Non-compliance of SC order regarding sexual harassment

1465. SHRI VIJAY J. DARDA: Will the Minister of WOMEN AND CHILD DEVELOPMENT be pleased to state:

(a) whether a recently published report of National Commission on Women which covered 799 organizations including Government Departments has revealed that there is poor compliance of Supreme Court order with regard to sexual harassment of women at work place;

(b) if so, the details thereof; and

(c) the action Government have taken or propose to take against the persons for violating the Supreme Court order?

THE MINISTER OF STATE OF THE MINISTRY OF WOMEN AND CHILD DEVELOPMENT (SHRIMATI RENUKA CHOWDHURY): (a) and (b) National Commission for Women (NCW) has informed that it had held interactive meetings on sexual harassment at work place since November, 2000 with 799 organizations. It was observed that 664 organizations were having Complaint Committee. 414 organizations reported third party involvement in the Complaints Committee set up by them. According to NCW it would not be correct to say that there is poor compliance with the Supreme Court guidelines. However, the guidelines have not been fully followed in as much as complaint Committee has not been set up by many organizations, the Complaint Committees which have been set up do not have 50% reservation for women and are headed in some cases by men, many do not have third party representation and there is noticeable lack of awareness among Complaints Committee members.

(c) The Government has taken a number of initiatives to promote compliance with the Supreme Court guidelines. The details are enclosed as Statement (See below). NCW has also since proposed a draft bill on the prevention of sexual harassment of women at workplace, incorporating the Supreme Court guidelines.
